DownrightNatural Announces Availability of Organic Tobacco Seed

Availability of 100% Organic Tobacco Seed

Cherry Hill, NJ— Organic Tobacco Seed — Today, DownrightNatural announced immediate availability of all varieties of Organic Tobacco Seed, enabling home growers, co-ops, and small farmers to immediately start their growing season with an all-natural, 100% organic alternative to mass produced tobacco items.

“Our Organic Tobacco seed is perfect for the home grower. It can be grown for landscape interest, as a natural pesticide for gardening and home use, or for consumption when processed. Being 100% Organic, the seed does not contain any of the common chemicals that other tobacco seed comes laden with,” said Danny Keigs, Shipping Manager with DownrightNatural.

Positive Customer Impact

Many customers have already benefited from growing Organic Tobacco Seed. Jennifer A., a home grower in Milford, DE, started growing Organic Tobacco last season for use in her garden and around her home. She found that it makes a wonderful natural pest deterrent, and helps out in the house with ants and gnats as well as other types of insects during the summer time. Organic Tobacco Seed will enable Jennifer to keep potentially dangerous mosquitos and other insects from her children and other family members without exposing them to the harmful side effects of commercial insect repellent products.

“By growing the tobacco plants around my patio and garden, I find that it deters many types of annoying bugs when we sit out in the evening,” said Jennifer “it is so much nicer to be able to enjoy the outdoors without having to be covered in toxic sprays and worrying what it can do to my children and husband.”

Organic Tobacco Seed Availability

Organic Tobacco Seed is the only sensible alternative for most people to use in their garden, but most are not aware of the beneficial uses of tobacco. They are used to hearing how harmful and detrimental tobacco is in general. As a move to educate and promote the benefits of Organic Tobacco, its beneficial uses, and as a common houseplant, DownrightNatural is offering all varieties of Organic Tobacco at 50% off for the months of February, March & April. Organic Tobacco Seed is available for immediate purchase at www.downrightnatural.com.

Founded in 1986, DownrightNatural is committed to bettering the lives of our customers, improving biodiversity, and promoting organic vegetables, herbs, and fruits that help counter the proliferation of chemically laden and genetically modified (GMO) products in use today. The company offers a wide range of organic seeds and products to better the environment and living choices of everyone.
